REDS HURL NEW DRIVE

Subs Sink 16 Jap Ships

WASHINGTON, June 23 (INS)—The Navy announced today that American submarines have sunk 16 more Japanese supply vessels in the Pacific. Included in the list were 11 medium cargo vessels, four small cargo ships and one medium naval auxiliary.

Archbishop Mooney Slated to Succeed Cardinal O'Connell

Hub's New Archbishop?—Archbishop Edward Mooney (at left) of Detroit will be appointed to succeed the late William Cardinal O'Connell as archbishop of Boston within the next two weeks, according to several Catholic spokesmen. Ordained in 1902, Archbishop Mooney, now 63, has headed the Detroit archdiocese since 1937.

Is This It? Berlin Reports Big Red Drive

By LEWIS HAWKINS
LONDON, June 23 (AP)—The Germans announced today the Red army, striking on the third anniversary of Hitler's surprise invasion of Russia, has launched its long-awaited summer offensive on the eastern front.

While Moscow had not as yet confirmed the opening of the drive, the German high command and official Berlin broadcasts declared the Soviets moved forward yesterday on a broad front north of the Pripyat marshes—on the most direct road from Moscow to Berlin and Warsaw—in an assault which may be co-ordinated with Allied advances in France and Italy.

The Germans said the large-scale Soviet offensive was set in motion from south of Mogilev to north of Vitebsk with heavy tank and plane support.

The Berlin communique said the initial thrusts were parried, but "bitter fighting is still going on on either side of Vitebsk."

The assault was accompanied by local attacks northwest of Tarnopol toward Lwow in southern Poland below the Pripyat marshes, the report added.

The Germans said the Red army was using artillery and tanks on a grand scale.

It is certain the Russians are employing only a small percentage of their rested and re-equipped forces against Finland, and that the Red army is in a position to strike anywhere it chooses along the front from the Black sea to the Baltic.

Reds Pound Finns On Three Fronts

LONDON, June 23 (AP)—Russian troops pounded the Finns on three fronts in savage fighting yesterday, scored new advances and took a heavy toll in enemy killed and captured, Moscow announced today.

From the northern tip of Lake Onegskoe, Red army units rolled 10 to 15 miles westward in the direction of Lake Ostero and cleared a section of the Leningrad-Murmansk railway by capturing three important stations.

To the south along the Svir river the Red army expanded its bridgehead to a depth of at least six miles on the river's north bank, and captured Podporozhye, a district center of the Leningrad region.

North of Viipuri on the Karelian isthmus Marshal Leonid A. Govorov's conquering army captured Tali, five miles north of the fallen seaport, as well as several other places in the flourishing farming and manufacturing belt that extends toward Helsinki, the Finnish capital.

2 German Warships Reported Off Finland

NEW YORK, June 23 (INS)—A German pocket battleship and the heavy cruiser Adm. Hipper were reported today off the Finnish coast.

Two German submarines were reported today off the Finnish coast.

west coast port of Abo.

The British radio quoted its Stockholm correspondent as saying:

"It is thought the Germans are risking these ships, either to prevent the Russian occupation of the Aaland islands, between Finland and Sweden, or to get the Germans away from Finland."

CBS heard the British broadcast.

Robot Failure, Commons Told

By JAMES F. KING
LONDON, June 23 (AP)—German flying bombs have caused little damage of national importance and public utilities have been affected only slightly, Home Sec. Morrison told Commons today.

Morrison said if the enemy's intention was to upset British morale the robots had been a signal failure.

"There have been periods when some 10 or more flying bombs were in the air at the same time," he said.

A few hours before he spoke the Germans sent incendiary and explosive flying bombs against southern England in one of the heaviest attacks since the new weapon was put in action. Two fires were started but they were quickly extinguished. RAF night fighters, guided by powerful searchlights, knocked down a number before they could do any damage.

Nazis Stiffen Defense in Italy

ROME, June 23 (AP)—Allied forces in Italy have made progress along both coastal sectors, but the Germans apparently are planning a determined stand along strong positions between Lake Trasimeno and Lake Chiusi and north of Perugia in the central sector, Allied headquarters indicated today.

The Eighth Army is encountering "strong resistance" north of Perugia, and southwest of Lake Trasimeno, where a number of German counterattacks have been repulsed, the communique said.

An Aldiers radio news roundup said Allied forces on the Adriatic were 25 miles from the important seaport of Ancona.

On the west coast the Fifth Army, despite strong resistance, has pressed forward astride Highway One, leading through Livorno to Pisa, and is approaching Follonica, some 55 miles below Pisa, believed to be the anchor of the main German resistance line.

reported strong indications the enemy had withdrawn from the eastern tip of the peninsula to the city for a house-to-house stand.

Gen. Bradley's all-out offensive, now in its second day, struck fierce resistance at every point. A particularly vicious battle raged for control of the big airfield at Mautepertus, five miles east of Cherbourg.

Inside the besieged port, the German garrison stood up stubbornly under yesterday's 100-plane assault on the forts and pillboxes, comprising the city's defense. The U. S. ground troops had to fight for every inch of their advance.

Small gains were registered around the port itself, but progress was made on both the eastern and western sides of the peninsula.

Only slight German resistance was reported by American troops who cut off the eastern tip of the peninsula by capturing the road junction of St. Pierre Eglise, then driving two miles westward and taking Carneville within sight of the sea.

A report from the 21st Army Group headquarters said this advance provided strong indications the Germans had abandoned that tip of the peninsula despite strong fortifications in the St. Vaast la Hougue area on the eastern coast.

On the western tip of the peninsula, the Americans went forward in the area of Beaumont Hague against scattered resistance, cutting off whatever Germans are in that area.

Allied bombers and fighters attacked German gunposts and barracks on Alderney, one of the Channel isles only seven miles west of the tip of Cap de la Hague. This indicated some of the trapped Germans might be attempting to flee there.

The Allied prisoner bag was described as a supreme headquarters as well over the 15,000 announced a few days ago for the period since the June 6 landings.

Raiders Over Sofia Reported by Berlin

NEW YORK, June 23 (AP)—The Berlin radio said today that "single enemy nuisance raiders" were over Sofia during the night.

WATER!

Captured Saipan Japs Grab U. S. Canteens

By HOWARD M. NORTON
AT A COMMAND POST ON SAIPAN, June 22 (delayed)—As the battle for Saipan enters its second week, it begins to appear that lack of drinking water may turn out to be the fatal weakness of this island's strong defenses.

There is evidence that the water supply is critically low behind the Jap lines. Prisoners invariably beg for water when brought in and many have to be forcibly restrained from snatching the canteens of their American captors.

The naval artillery smashed big Jap water distilling apparatus and fresh water tanks before the first wave of marines hit the beaches at Charan Kanon. Since then the Japs probably have existed on the island's few wells and rainwater cisterns, most of the latter already empty because of the extremely light rainfall since the invasion.

The defenses on vital Mt. Tapotchau, commanding a major part of the island, depend on two small wells for their entire water supply.

Promises of plenty of drinking water proved an effective means of getting Japs to come out of their pillboxes and surrender—which they are doing here in large numbers.

"Why die of thirst?" says an American voice in Japanese language through loudspeakers near the front lines.

"You've fought as well as any soldier of the emperor should do. Now come out with your hands up and have a drink of this good water so you'll be alive to serve your country when the war is over."

American forces are rationed two or three canteens of water daily.

20,000 Jap Troops Trapped on Saipan

By Associated Press
American infantrymen and marines spread through the hills and plains of Saipan island in the Marianas today in pursuit of 20,000 Japanese troops surrendered to their fate by their fleeing navy.

The Americans had complete air and sea control and the ground fighters had the advantage in numbers and firepower. They have all but conquered the whole Magicienne bay shore. Tokyo radio admitted American reinforcements were pouring in.

The Navy has disclosed the identity of the tremendous U. S. fleet which in two days last week sunk or damaged 14 enemy ships and shot down at least 368 planes. It is Task Force 58, consisting of perhaps 20 first-class carriers and a host of battleships, cruisers and lesser craft. Its stamping ground is "the entire Pacific ocean to the gates of Japan," the Navy said.

Japanese imperial headquarters said the Saipan naval battle that it had been "unable to inflict heavy losses in south-central China."

CHICAGO, June 23—Most Rev. Edward Mooney, D. D., Archbishop of Detroit, is the most prominent prospect to succeed the late William Cardinal O'Connell as Archbishop of Boston, church circles in Chicago and elsewhere said today.

Later, possibly after the war, Archbishop Mooney, chairman of the administrative board of the National Catholic Welfare Conference, will be elevated to a Cardinal.

Some pointed out, since the Pope is now free and communication is possible between the Vatican and the United States, that the Cardinal's red hat may come to the successor of Cardinal O'Connell even before the war ends.

If such a precedent is followed it was surmised that the Pope would also bestow the red hat upon other American Catholic prelates.

There is only one cardinal remaining in the United States—Dennis Cardinal Dougherty of Philadelphia.

Frequently mentioned for the College of Cardinals are Archbishop Francis J. Spellman of New York and Archbishop Samuel A. Stritch of Chicago. Also mentioned is Archbishop John J. Mitty of San Francisco.

Appointment of the new Archbishop of Boston will be made some time within the next two weeks or possibly earlier, several Catholic spokesmen believed.

They based their reasons for the Boston appointment of Archbishop Mooney on the fact that he

New So. Shore Kidnaping Told

The murder of 10-year-old Frances McGrath in Scituate was preceded several weeks by the kidnaping of Ida Henderson, 16, of Cross st., Norwell, who leaped from a speeding car of two abductors and was left for dead.

Recovering from a brain concussion and two weeks of invalidism suffered as the result of her ordeal, the Henderson girl today told the Boston American how she was seized on a lonely Greenbush roadside and thrown into an automobile.

Coincidentally it was learned police had been seeking two men of middle age or older as her kidnapers when the McGrath tragedy came—and are looking for the same men as the probable murderers of Frances McGrath.

Ida Henderson's escape from a fate possibly as tragic as the McGrath child's occurred April 21, only seven weeks before Frances was ravished and slain.

The Norwell girl related:

THROWN INTO CAR

"I was in Scituate harbor and started to walk home about 4 o'clock in the afternoon. It's slightly more than four miles. I had gone perhaps halfway and was in Greenbush on Route 123 when an automobile stopped beside me.

"The driver asked me if I wanted a ride. I said no. He drove on until he came to a bend in the road, then stopped. I had seen no one else in the car with him.

"When I got to the parked car I started to walk past it. Then two men jumped out. I don't know where the other one came from, unless he had been crouching down in the car when it first stopped.

"One of the men grabbed me from behind and twisted my arms high up behind my back," the Henderson girl said. "The other held the rear door open. I screamed but there was no one to hear me. I couldn't fight with my hands because my arms were twisted so hard but I tried to kick. It wasn't any use. They threw me into the car.

"Both men got into the front seat. I kept on screaming. One of them reached over and seized my wrist. He pulled me forward from the back seat and pinned my wrist down against the back of the front seat. He kept his head partly turned so I couldn't see all of his face.

HEADED FOR BOSTON

"The driver started toward Norwell, then turned the car around at a sand pit and began to speed toward Greenbush again.

Motorist's Spin On Rock Costs $75

It was a bad morning after for a 40-year-old Revere shipitter as he tried in vain to piece together last night's events for Judge Reeve in Lynn district court today.

Joseph C. Norton, Campbell ave., Revere, was found at dawn in his car by the side of McCullough rd., Lynn, by Patrolman William Cahill.

Cahill told the court Norton was resting peacefully at the controls, a few empty bottles at his side, while the engine was going full force, the wheels spinning madly, and his car stuck fast on a big boulder.

"What have you to say?" asked Judge Reeve.

"I wasn't driving the car, I was just there," said Norton.

"You drove up to where the rock stopped your car, didn't you?"

"For the life of me I don't know. That's what mystifies me," said Norton.

"You and your car probably dropped there out of a cloud," replied Judge Reeve as he fined Norton $75 for operating under the influence, and filed a drunkenness charge. Norton pleaded guilty to both charges.

Archbishop Mooney came into the limelight when he publicly reproved Rev. Charles E. Coughlin—which allegedly caused Fr. Coughlin's removal from the radio.

Abp. Mooney's Career Related

By AL LANDY

DETROIT, June 23—Most Rev. Edward Mooney, Archbishop of Detroit, is known by Catholics of Michigan as a churchman of many attainments and distinctions. They have found in him a most national combination of preacher, diplomat, teacher, theologian and administrator.

The six-foot, slender prelate, an intellectual giant who has served the Catholic Church in important posts in four lands since his ordination at Rome in 1909, found climactic success in his service in Detroit which became the 17th archdiocese of the Roman Catholic Church in the United States upon his appointment by Pope Pius XI on June 1, 1937.

PRODIGIOUS WORKER

Archbishop Mooney has always enjoyed the confidence of the Catholic hierarchy in this country and in Rome. This was shown when Pius XI demonstrated his faith in the American prelate by naming him an apostolic delegate, first to India, then to Japan.

Archbishop Mooney—he was consecrated titular archbishop of Irenopolis, Sauria, Asia Minor, in 1926 at Rome—has always been a prodigious worker, his efforts beyond routine diocesan work, for many years being bound up with his post as chairman of the administrative board of the NCWC, composed of 130 archbishops and bishops in the United States.

The archbishop thus became a leader in formulating national policies of the church in this country.

He is described by colleagues as that rarest of men, a scholarly executive. In his stay in Detroit he has shown himself to be a sympathetic friend of labor and an outspoken advocate of fair dealing between employer and employee.

A preacher of rare gifts, his sermons have been neither flowery nor too lengthy, invariably being precise and very much to the point. Personal glorification is not in his line. When he has his way, his birthdays and sacerdotal anniversaries go unobserved.

Few men would have the equipment which Archbishop Mooney brought to his office. He has been teacher of a boys' school, professor of theology at a major seminary, spiritual director of the North American College at Rome.

Archbishop Mooney was born in Mt. Savage, Md., May 9, 1881, the seventh child of his parents, Thomas and Sara Heneghan Mooney. However, he received his early education in Youngstown, O., where his family moved when he was four years old.

Seven years later the father died and the sons, led by the mother, took up the duties of keeping the large family together.

Edward was enrolled at St. Columba's School in Youngstown, and upon his graduation enrolled at St. Charles College at Ellicott City, Md., to study for the priest.

DFC Given Berube Of Boston American

As a reporter for the Boston Record, American, Sunday Advertiser, Thomas J. ("Rube") Berube, covered the news but for the past seven months he has been making the news himself as an Army Air Force first lieutenant and flight leader with the 15th AAF in Italy.

In the process of making news, Lt. Berube has received many honors, the latest of which is the Distinguished Flying Cross, announced today by the Army. He already wears the Air Medal with eight Oak Leaf clusters.

The DFC was awarded Berube for "extraordinary achievement in aerial combat" over Budapest, Hungary, when he was officially credited with shooting down an enemy plane.

LEADS IN ATTACK

The official citation accompanying the award read in part:

"During withdrawal from the target, Lt. Berube observed two groups of bombers far to his left, without escort, and threatened by a large formation of enemy rocket fighters coming into position to attack.

"With his flight, he immediately pressed into their midst, himself leading an attack upon six enemy planes, destroyed an ME 210, and driving them down.

"Twice again, he returned to the bombers in time to assist successfully in breaking up attacks by large formations of enemy fighters, enabling our bombers to be safely escorted from the danger zone without loss.

"By his outstanding aggressiveness and daring in the face of heavy odds, Lt. Berube contributed greatly to the success of this important mission."

OVER MANY LANDS

Since Berube began combat flying in October, 1943, he has flown more than 50 missions escorting heavy bombers over Yugoslavia, Italy, Greece, Bulgaria, Austria, Albania, Germany, Romania and Hungary.

liams' Church, Tewksbury, Berube has named his Lightning P-38 "Our Lady II" in tribute to the Blessed Virgin.

The group to which Berube is such a notable addition has received two presidential unit citations. It is officially credited with more than 440 aerial victories, making it the top scoring fighter group in the Mediterranean theater.

Berube is the son of Mrs. Mary Berube and the late Louis O. Berube of Adams st., Tewksbury. He was graduated from Tewksbury High School in 1938 and was salutatorian of his class. He entered the AAF in April, 1942, and was commissioned a second lieutenant in May, 1943.

Way to Get Even With Japs

By SGT. JOHN B. T. CAMPBELL, JR.

Marine Corps Combat Correspondent, formerly of the Los Angeles Herald-Express.

SAIPAN, Marianas Islands, June 16 (delayed)—On the eve of the assault upon this island, a medical officer called members of a Marine artillery unit together and warned them:

In the surf they must beware of sharks, barracuda, sea snakes, anemones, razor-sharp coral, polluted waters, poison fish and, of all things, giant clams capable of snapping on a man like a bear trap.

Ashore, the men must take precautions against leprosy, typhus filiaris, yaws, typhoid and paratyphoid fevers, dengue fever, dysentery, an assortment of skin and eye infections, new grass or sabre grass, a wide variety of insects, snakes and giant lizards.

They were instructed to eat nothing growing on the island, nor to drink its waters, nor to approach its inhabitants.

At the conclusion of his lecture, the doctor asked if there were any questions. A private raised his hand.

"Yes?" queried the doctor. "Sir," said the private, "why don't we let the Japs have the island?"

Noxon Defense Opens With Expert Testimony

By PAULINE WARREN

PITTSFIELD, June 23—The defense of John F. Noxon, Jr., charged with the murder of his baby son, began here in Superior court today after an opening in which dramatic surprises were promised. Called to the defense was an imposing array of medical and scientific experts to rival those produced by the prosecution during the first 15 days of the trial.

Perhaps most startling of all was the defense opening promise to produce in court moving pictures taken of little Lawrence Noxon, in which the child is shown moving his body and arms. The state contended throughout that the baby had little or no muscular development and could not reach out to grasp the electric wire which carried death.

TAKEN BY BROTHER

Defense experts awaiting call include Dr. Charles J. Umberger, chemist of the city of New York; Dr. Charles C. Lund of Boston; Dr. Milton Halpern, noted New York pathologist, and Stephen E. Whiting of Swampscott, an electrical engineer.

Walter Donovan of the defense staff made the disclosure that movies had been taken of the baby by his older brother, John, and also theorized that the much-discussed "dumbbell burns" on the infant's left arm were caused by a big safety pin that held the child's diaper.

"The size of that pin is exactly the size and shape of that dumbbell mark on the arm," Donovan declared. "You'll be able to pick out the two lines of the pin, and it was this pin which carried the lethal current into the left arm."

WILL TAKE STAND

Noxon himself, his attorney announced, will take the stand in his own defense.

"The defendant will not remain passive," he stated. "You will hear from his own lips the story of the tragic death of his little son. He will subject himself to cross-examination to answer every legitimate question which the district attorney may see fit to ask."

Atty. Donovan declared that the testimony of Dr. George P. Hunt, the Noxon family physician who was first to be called to the Noxon home after the baby's death, would be refuted by other witnesses who had seen the child far more often than Dr. Hunt did.

SAY BABY COULD MOVE

Dr. Hunt had declared the baby's weak and flabby muscular development would prevent him from grasping or lifting the electric cord with its exposed wires, and that he lacked the activity of motion of the normal baby. The motion pictures, if allowed in evidence, will show the child's actual muscular power, Donovan said.

"We'll show you it could move its head, raise itself by its arms and raise his arms over his head," Donovan said.

MARRIES AGAIN—Mrs. Ruth Googins Roosevelt of Fort Worth, Tex., former wife of Col. Elliott Roosevelt, today became the bride of Lt. Col. H. T. Eidson at St. Andrew's Episcopal Church in Fort Worth. Rumors are current that Elliott is planning to wed the widowed Duchess of Kent.

IT'S HIS BOSS—Marine Sgt. Swanton L. Whitmore of Brookline and Medford, a veteran of 27 months' duty in the Pacific, is shown with the bust of Lieut. Gen. A. A. Vandergrift, Marine Corps commandant, which he made of red clay and plaster. He passed up a furlough home in order to finish the bust.

Navy Wife, 2 Small Children Are Evicted

Bewildered and discouraged by an eviction order forcing her to move without any place to go, Mrs. Mae Weddleton, 27, of Highland ave., Everett, wife of a Navy machinist mate and mother of two small children, today packed her belongings and awaited the moving van.

"I don't know where we'll go," she said. "I've looked everywhere but nobody seems to want to rent a place to me because I have children. I don't even know where we'll sleep tomorrow night after they move our belongings out of here."

The moving van is due tomorrow to cart the furnishings of the Weddleton four-room apartment to a warehouse under orders of the landlord.

VAIN HUNT FOR HOME

Mrs. Weddleton said the landlord, Oscar DeBenedictus of Chelsea st., Everett, wants the place for himself and his wife. She said he obtained the eviction notice after she was unable to find a place to live following a two-weeks' notice in April.

"I found a place over in Chelsea st. and paid $19 deposit on it," Mrs. Weddleton told a reporter. "I started to move in and found the place full of vermin and refused to take my children into such a house."

"When I tried to get my deposit back, the man refused to give it to me and I've filed a claim in court for it."

She said DeBenedictus bought the two-family house about six months ago. When he came for the rent on March 1 she was unable to pay because her husband's allotment check of $100 had not arrived, she said. The monthly rent is $28.

PAYMENT DELAYED

"I paid him March 9 when the check came," she said. "The same thing happened April 1 and I promised to pay two days later but the landlord refused it and told me he wanted the place for himself and told me to move."

The following month she offered to pay $56 for the two months but again DeBenedictus refused, she said.

When the eviction order was served Mrs. Weddleton appealed to Malden district court for a stay. Judge Elbridge Davis heard the case May 5 and continued disposition until May 19 and on that date ordered a delay in eviction to May 31.

Flier Tells North Sea Horror

By HUCK FINNEGAN

WITH EIGHTH AIR FORCE IN ENGLAND—Mark high among the Bay State's list of war heroes the names of Sgt. Russell E. Gately, 312 Manning st., Needham, and Sgt. Alfonso R. Fiori, 90 Reed st., Winthrop. These two Boston College High graduates were among the crew of 10 fished out of the icy North sea some 50 hours after their plane made a crash dive 50 miles off the Danish coast. Both have been awarded Air Medals.

Fiori was in no condition to talk when the crew arrived back at the base hospital, but Gately, sipping steaming hot coffee, recounted the pulsating adventure.

"We had dropped our bombs on Berlin, and had met nothing more serious than the ever-present flak," said the 24-year-old ball turret gunner. "It looked like a milk run until we hit the Danish Coast on the way home. Then a whole fleet of German fighters attacked us."

HIT BY 11 SHELLS

"I got one of the planes on my side of the ship, but the other murdered us. One 20 mm shell went between the pilot's legs. Another shattered the co-pilot's bullet proof windshield. The navigator was knocked for a loop and hurt his ankle."

"We were hit 11 times with those 20 mm's, and our bomb bay looked like a sieve. There was a hole through No. 1 engine, the cowling was ripped off No. 2, and No. 4 was out of commission. Still, miraculous to say, nobody had been badly hurt."

"We fought a running battle for 50 miles," he continued. "We were well up and were running out of oxygen. The co-pilot came back to us. 'If you want to jump, jump now,' he said. We didn't want to jump. What was the sense 50 miles off the coast in icy waters? So we decided to ditch it and prepared for a crash landing, all moving into the radio room."

"Then we struck the water tail first at a 90-mile an hour clip. It was like hitting a stone wall. A wave of water burst through the radio room door, knocking Fiori down, dislocating his shoulder, blackening his eyes, and drenching all of us."

ALL NIGHT ON RAFT

"The ship's tail had broken off, the nose was down, and it was evident we were going under in a hurry. We got a rubber raft out, and I pushed Fiori through the door. I was next to last out. The ship went down in exactly 45 seconds, so we had little time to salvage anything."

"We swam for the raft and I pumped it up. The 10 of us climbed on and tried to relax. We sat all night long, a sheet of tarpaulin covering us. But the wind would whistle up under it and freeze us. Our feet were numb, too. Leaks in the raft forced us to keep pumping air into it."

"It was a bad night. I couldn't sleep at all, and Fiori had to be given a shot to relieve the pain in his shoulder. However, the next day the sea was calm, and the sun came out. We tried to dry out clothes, first shoes and socks, then shirts, etc."

"We sighted a fishing smack during the morning and fired flares, but it didn't see us. A plane came over and missed us. We decided to break out a sail and drift."

SPOTTED BY PLANES

"In the afternoon we cheered when we spotted four Fortresses to the south. They saw us at 3 p. m. They dropped a life raft, waterproof clothing, cigarettes, water and tablets. The raft wouldn't work, but the waterproof clothing was a life-saver for Fiori."

"The Fortresses kept circling us to let the British air-sea rescue command know our location, and finally the British planes arrived. They dropped an airborne lifeboat with motors, with instructions to head for England. That was at 5:40 p. m."

"Our navigator and bombardier steered the course, the pilot and I kept the engines going. But the RAF lost us at midnight and we were alone until 6 a. m. the next day. We were down to our last quart of gas, the sea was whipping up fiercely and we were getting wet again."

"But luck was with us, because a fishing smack pulled us and pulled us aboard. The crew fed us cereal and fish, and I slept for two and one-half hours. Then we were informed the British were coming in a highspeed rescue launch. They arrived at 7:30 p. m., fed and clothed us, and made us feel com-

"Tell the people of Boston for me," he concluded, "that the English rescuers were wonderful. They couldn't do enough for us. And tell the world that our pilot (Lt. Julian P. Rogers, Wilson, N. C.), and crew are the best in the business."

Gately graduated from B. C. High in '38, Fiori in '37. They didn't know each other until they went into the service.

GI Bill Machinery Geared for Vets

With the veterans of World War II assured of justice by a grateful nation, the Veterans Administration in Washington and branches throughout the country today set up the machinery necessary to bring benefits of their GI Bill of Rights.

No sooner had President Roosevelt signed the bill into law when initial steps were taken to provide vocational, financial, educational and hospitalization benefits guaranteed every honorably discharged veteran of this war.

Cost to the nation is variously estimated from $3,000,000,000 to $6,500,000,000, but there were very few who were unthinking enough to count the dollars.

At the same time, congressional leaders gave careful thought to the President's plea that they give speedy consideration to a measure to assure similar benefits to the heroes of the Merchant Marine. The President also urged some form of unemployment insurance to thousands of war workers who, in the postwar period, face a period of readjustment.

The present bill was sponsored by the American Legion, the Veterans of Foreign Wars and other veterans' organizations and was backed by the Hearst newspapers throughout the country.

Applying to men and women who have served 90 days or more in the active military or naval forces between Sept. 16, 1940, and prior to the termination of hostilities in the present war, and who have been released from service "under conditions other than dishonorable," the bill provides:

1—A flat weekly $20 unemployment payment.

For each calendar month of active service the veteran will be entitled to four weeks of allowances. Payments will be limited to 52 weeks for the first two years after discharge, and will be denied to veterans who refuse "suitable" work.

2—A minimum of a year's education for veterans whose schooling was interrupted by the war, with the government paying up to $500 in annual tuition and other fees in addition to $50 monthly subsistence, plus $25 for dependents. The law presumes that education was interrupted with if the veterans entered the service while 25 or younger. Those older ones will have to prove interference.

Maximum schooling, either in public or private colleges, universities, trade or business schools will be limited to four years, depending upon the veteran's length of service. He will select his own school, subject to Veterans' Administration regulations.

3—Government guaranteed loans by private and public lending agencies at not more than 4 per cent interest, repayable in 20 years. The government will guarantee loans for purchase and repair of homes, farms and small businesses up to 50 per cent of the principal provided the guarantee does not exceed $2000, and the Veterans' Administration will absorb the interest for the first year on the amount guaranteed.

4—Creation of a job-finding agency within the U. S. Employment Service, with the director of the Veterans' Administration as chairman.

5—Authority for the Veterans' Administration to spend $500,000,000 in construction of hospital facilities to provide for the care of returning service people.

Lt. Dorsey Goes Back on Duty

Lt. John A. Dorsey reported for duty at the Dudley st., Roxbury, station today after withdrawing his appeal from a decision by a police trial board and accepting demotion from the rank of captain.

Dorsey, who asked for a public hearing through counsel, said he would accept the finding of the board, which heard charges of neglect of duty. Police Commr. Thomas F. Sullivan disclosed the decision in a general order, in which he stated:

"I feel that I should say there is no charge, or evidence, of corruption on his part presented during the course of the hearing.

"The action taken in this case does not establish a precedent for any future cases that may arise. I have made it clear to members of the force of all ranks that it is their duty to enforce the law without fear or favor. In this they will have my full support. The responsibility is theirs."

U.S., 17 Others, O.K. Bolivia

WASHINGTON, June 23 (AP)—The United States and 17 other American republics today recognized the government of Bolivia, ending six months of diplomatic isolation of the South American nation.

One other nation, Uruguay, has agreed to extend recognition but will not take the technical step necessary for a day or so.

Recognition by the neighbor countries followed a decision that the Bolivian regime definitely favors the United Nations' cause.

Missionaries to Save Japan After War

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich., June 23 (AP)—Delegates to the national convention of Congregational Christian Churches were told today that missionaries plan to return after the war to Japan to play an important part in post-war reconstruction.

"Only Christian principles can save and restore the people of Japan in the vast changes that must follow the defeat of military dictatorship," a report by the Prudential committee to the foreign missions board declared.

Hitler's Palace Blasted in Raid

STOCKHOLM, June 23 (INS)—Hitler's palace was hit by several bombs and the Wilhelmstrasse was left a mass of flames in Wednesday's heavy American bomber attack, according to reports today to the newspaper Svenska Dagbladet.

Hitler's palace burned all day Wednesday after several bombs crashed through its six-foot-thick concrete walls.

A "full" hit completely destroyed the Zeughaus, or "Hero's Memorial," and the air ministry building now consists of only two damaged wings.

The Victoria Hotel at the Friedrichstrasse was blotted out by bombs, the dispatch said, adding that several foreign correspondents living in different parts of Berlin lost all their possessions.

Boston Flier Dies in Invasion

Sgt. Robert Nihill, 23, of Kenton st., Jamaica Plain, was killed in action June 8, the third day of the European invasion, according to a War Department message to his mother, Mrs. Josephine Nihill. Nihill, member of the crew of the Flying Fortress, "Stern Queen," was recently decorated with the Distinguished Service Cross for gallantry in action.

One of his brothers, Eugene, was badly wounded in the African campaign and is now in a government hospital in Indiana. Another, John F. Nihill, is with a field artillery unit in the European theater.

1000 Attend VFW Conclave

HOLYOKE, June 23.—With strong indications they will adopt the proposal of State Com. Frank J. Benoit to launch a vigorous campaign for immediate centralization of the Boston office of the Veterans' Administration, more than 1000 delegates today attended the opening session of the 24th annual state department encampment of the Veterans of Foreign Wars.

Benoit's demand for a new central setup for veterans in Boston was made at the encampment banquet. He charged that since the transfer of administrative and outpatient sections of the bureau to the Veterans Administration Hospital in West Roxbury, he has received hundreds of complaints from veterans throughout the state.

"They feel the present setup has created another merry-go-round, not only for disabled servicemen of the last war, but those of the present conflict as well," the state leader said. "We believe the most efficient plan would be the erection of a building to be used as a veterans' center and include the administrative, outpatient and other sections of the bureau under one roof in an available intown location."

He suggested the veterans seek the co-operation of all Massachusetts representatives in Congress to have the situation corrected at once.

The convention schedule calls for the Cooties' Parade tonight, the convention parade tomorrow at 5:30 p.m., and election of officers Sunday.

Woman Missionary Dies of Cholera

Miss Mary L. McClure, 53, of Newton, a Congregational missionary, died of cholera on June 19, the American Board of Commissioners for Foreign Missions announced today. She was en route to the Lu Ho High School in Sian, China, when she died.

She was taken prisoner by the Japanese when they invaded Fenchow, North China, but was one of the first repatriated on the Gripsholm in 1912.

A native of Waltham, she leaves a sister, Miss Helen A. McClure of Newton, and two brothers, Ernest of Newton, and Arthur of Woburn.

INVASION SHOW Open to All

The big INVASION BOND SHOW in Charles river basin on July 4 has been thrown open to all who wish to attend, through the efforts of former Cong. Richard M. Russell of Cambridge.

Approving action for the War Bond spectacle came from Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau after Russell protested that children and others should not be barred just because they could not buy a War Bond.

TELLS OF PLAN

"I have received a favorable answer to the wire I forwarded with reference to the other side of the Charles river and those who wish to participate in or watch the 4th of July INVASION BOND SHOW," Russell said.

"F. Winchester Denio, chairman of the committee here, stated that the original plans of the committee were formed with the purpose in mind that by limiting the area and making admission by ticket to bond buyers, more persons in a position to buy bonds would attend, thus the more successful the spectacle would be.

"Chairman Denio now states that welcome is extended to all who wish to witness or participate in the show and that they may do so from either side of the river or from the bridges."

TWO STATIONS

Co-operating with the U. S. Treasury Dept. and the Boston retail merchants' committee who are jointly sponsoring the big pageant maneuver, the Red Cross will have two first aid stations on the Esplanade during the three-hour performance. One station will be located at the foot of Dartmouth st. and the other in the vicinity of the Union Boat Club.

Cots will be set up on the grass and an ambulance assigned to each station. Groups of volunteer first aid workers will be headed by physicians.

The large, roped-in area, reserved for the holders of tickets issued only to purchasers of war bonds, will be policed by more than 1000 members of State Guard.

Four crack service bands will play throughout the afternoon.

FIVE TROPHIES

Rivalry between the sales forces of the 100 Boston department and specialty stores who are peddling E, F and G war bonds to customers, is becoming keener every day. Five silver trophies are to be awarded to stores who sell the most bonds, but in spite of encouraging daily reports from the various store bond captains to Sec. R. A. Johnston of the Boston Retail Trade Board, totals will have to be jacked up considerably between now and July 4, in order to make the special campaign by the Boston merchants a success in the Fifth War Loan Drive.

Wallace, Chiang Talk

CHUNGKING, June 23 (AP)—Vice President Henry A. Wallace and President Chiang Kai-shek conferred at the presidential villa outside Chungking today. Wallace was believed to have delivered a message from President Roosevelt.

Senate Shelves Insurance Bill

WASHINGTON (AP)—Aroused by a recent Supreme Court decision applying the Sherman anti-trust act to the $37,000,000 insurance business, the House voted 263 to 54 to exempt the business specifically from the act.

Overwhelmingly, members expressed dissatisfaction with the high court's 4-3 decision to the effect that insurance firms are in interstate commerce and thus subject to the Sherman law. The court decision had overturned precedents extending back over the past 75 years.

The Senate judiciary committee tee decided however to hold off action until after the summer recess, and the proposal will be on the shelf in the meantime.

Kidnap

They didn't speak to me or to each other.

"Then they headed the car in the general direction of Boston. I think it was on Route 3A. I saw only one other automobile and I screamed but it passed us."

"One of the men mumbled something to the other," Ida Henderson continued, "and they turned around toward Greenbush after going a long way. It seems as if it must have been four or five miles."

"I was crying and screaming, but they took no notice of me, except the man holding my wrist would twist it harder when I screamed."

"They mumbled something again and turned the car around toward Boston once more. They made a left turn near a red traffic light or a reflector. I made up my mind I'd rather die than be at their mercy."

"I pushed my foot against the door. It didn't open. I kept kicking it without letting them see me. Then I saw it open a little. They must have been going 60 miles an hour, but when they slowed up a little I shut my eyes and threw myself at the door."

"The man holding my wrist let go as I tumbled into the street. I felt a pain as I hit the highway. Then I must have fainted. And they must have backed up the car, because I can remember coming to for a minute and seeing the rear of it near my head. I remember seeing a white sticker on the rear window and a place where the number plate usually is, but there was no plate there. And I remember seeing the rear of the car slowly moving away."

"They must have thought I was killed and decided to get away from there quick," the 16-year-old Norwell girl said.

She added:

RECOVERS CONSCIOUSNESS

"I don't know how long I was unconscious, but when I came to my head was throbbing and my ankle hurt. I thought of just walking until I could find a house and telephone my mother, but she had suffered a stroke and I was afraid it would be too much for her."

"I walked and walked until finally I got home. It was 8:30 about four hours after they had grabbed me. We telephoned the police right away."

Ida Henderson was kept in bed two weeks with concussion of the brain, cared for by Mrs. Rose Henderson, her aunt, the wife of a Boston surgeon, Dr. Francis Henderson.

DESCRIBES ABDUCTORS

She described both of her abductors as "dirty and greasy-faced." One was about 50, with graying black hair, the other several years older and completely gray-haired. She described their clothing to police. The car was a two-door sedan of a make she couldn't identify.

While her kidnappers were being sought also as probable abductors of Frances McGrath, police learned a car seen parked near the Norwell murder site in the McGrath case could not have been involved in the slaying. It had been reported by three observant girls, Margaret and Marietta LaVigne, 17 and 18, and Gladys Chone, 18, all of Scituate.

WFC Urges Spurt As Bond Sales Skid

After an excellent beginning, war bond sales in Massachusetts have failed to maintain a steady pace needed to meet the goal of the Fifth War Loan drive, it was announced today by the War Finance Committee.

"There are thousands of persons in Massachusetts with the means to purchase an extra bond and yet they hesitate," the committee said. "It is this group of citizens who ultimately will determine the success or failure of this campaign."

"Beachheads of Europe and the Pacific are strewn with ruined equipment and it must be replaced if our boys are going to win. Every idle dollar should be put to work at once."

Meanwhile, residents of Winchester canvassed the town in a drive to buy more bonds than the namesake town of Winchester, Va., with a Saturday night supper as a reward.

Aunt Susan Tokes, a southern mammy, will preside over an outdoor ham and chicken fry for 1000 of the northern Winchesterites.

THE PRIME OF LIFE CAN BE PROLONGED

Dr. Henry O. Sherman
Says:

"A generous supply of Calcium results in better development of the young, a higher form of adult health, and a longer lease of what we may call the prime of life—the period between maturity and old age."

FINE RATIONING MAY NOT SUFFICE
SUFFICIENT CALCIUM SAYS CLAUDE WICKARD, U. S. Secretary of Agriculture.
Calcium is more often deficient in the diet than any other mineral. Calcium deficiency is a form of malnutrition that may be the cause of acidity, nervousness, fatigue, weakened heart muscles and other effects which hasten the onset of "OLD AGE" and shorten the "PRIME OF LIFE."

AM I NERVOUS?

Rheumatism with rest, rest, rest and nerves, may be due to a calcium deficiency which upsets the parathyroid glands causing intense sensitivity of the whole nervous system.

DO I TIRE EASILY?

A calcium starved body tires easily. A calcium deficiency may cause an upset nerve system, less strength, energy and vitality. No person can be normal without a sufficient supply of calcium.

AM I OLD AT 40?

Old at 40, symptoms of early aging, perhaps at 50 or 60, may be due to calcium deficiency. Calcium is needed, in adequate amount, in the repair and growth of body organs, tissues, cells. If your health is impaired, if you are run down, tired, old at 40 and nervous because you do not get enough Calcium or Phosphorus or Vitamin D or Vitamin B1 and KAL to your diet. See how much better you feel after KAL helps to build up, then maintain a normal Calcium-Phosphorus balance and help overcome the ill effects of deficiency of the vital elements KAL so strictly supervision.

Black Market Nylons Cheap

GREENSBORO, N. C., June 23 (AP)—U. S. deputy marshals stood by today for the 10 a. m. zero hour when 5000 pairs of nylon hose go on sale at pre-war prices, $1 to $1.65 a pair.

Marshal Edney Ridge said he expected possibly 10,000 would-be purchasers.

A federal court order directed sale of the hose, which the government charged was manufactured for black market sale from stolen nylon. The court specified that purchasers be limited to three pairs each.

Truman Group Hits So. Portland Yard

WASHINGTON, June 23 (AP)—The Truman committee remained critical of the performance of the South Portland, Me., shipyards in a report to the Senate today which at the same time noted a marked improvement in production at the Walsh-Kaiser yards in Providence.

The committee, including in its membership Sen. Brewster (R.) of Maine, in previous reports also had taken exception to the South Portland record.

"Although the corporation has achieved a steady reduction in costs, its production has consisted solely of Liberty ships, and the yard has not been hampered by construction of more than one type ship as have other yards," the committee said.

"Its record is still unsatisfactory when compared to the leading yards."

The South Portland yards are now operated by the New England Shipbuilding Corp. They delivered 91 Liberty ships during 1943, the committee reported.

HITS HIGH COST

"This represented a substantial increase in the rate of production of this shipyard, for it had delivered only 14 Liberty ships prior to Jan. 1, 1943, even though it received its first contract for the construction of Liberty ships on April 28, 1941," the report said.

"In previous reports the committee severely criticized the early unsatisfactory performance of this yard and is therefore, gratified by the commendable increase in production during 1943."

"In connection with man-hours and costs, however, the record of the New England Shipbuilding Corp. for 1943 was unsatisfactory in comparison with more efficient yards."

The 91 vessels cost an average of $1,227,661, excluding fee, and 751,581 man-hours per ship, the committee said.

AS ROME FELL

By Burris
Jenkins, Jr.

In Rome—Burris Jenkins, Jr., noted artist for the Boston American and other Hearst newspapers, made the above sketch showing the scene in front of St. Peter's at noon on the day the Allied troops occupied the Eternal City. Soldiers ride up to the church which they enter although they are dusty, tired. Ecstatic throngs of women and children welcome their liberators. The soldier manning the anti-aircraft gun is Capt. Addis Pike of Thomaston, Ga., a member of the anti-tank outfit that was the first to enter Rome, which is now far behind the battle lines.

Veterans' Friends Praise Hearst Newspapers

IN THE INTERIM between the passage of the GI Bill of Rights by both Houses of Congress and the signing of the legislation by the President, many Governors, officials of the American Legion, the Veterans of Foreign Wars and other friends and champions of the men fighting and winning this war sent telegrams of thanks to William Randolph Hearst for the support he and his newspapers gave the GI Bill which provides five billion dollars for the welfare and well-being of returning servicemen.

Representative telegrams are:

MR. WILLIAM RANDOLPH HEARST
McCloud, Calif.

The fine patriotic spirit shown by you and your newspapers in support of the American Legion GI Bill merits the everlasting gratitude of every true American. The benefits to our fighting men when they return are manifold. This is but another incident of the unselfish devotion which has characterized your entire life in fighting for the rights and justice due all mankind. We of the American Legion extend to you our warmest thanks, and this small tribute includes 300 Legion posts which comprise some 53,000 members.

JOHN L. DELAY,
State Commander, Department of Massachusetts,
American Legion.

Boston, June 17, 1944.

MR. WILLIAM RANDOLPH HEARST,
Wynnton, McCloud, Calif.

We of the Granite State extend to you and your newspapers our heartfelt thanks for your most loyal support of the American Legion GI Bill. It will be an incentive to our boys now fighting on foreign shores to forge ahead to final victory. They will know that, as a partial reward for their efforts, this bill will provide a foundation upon which they may build their futures. Sincere congratulations.

RAYMOND C. HILDRETH,
State Commander, Department of New Hampshire,
American Legion,
Chairman of State Veterans' Council.

Boston, June 20, 1944.

MR. W. R. HEARST
McCloud, Calif.

We, employees of the City of Boston and County of Suffolk members of the William F. Sinclair Post 250, American Legion, extend to you and your newspapers our unanimous thanks for the victory achieved in the passage of the GI bill. Once again you have shown a splendid spirit of Americanism. All veterans are indeed indebted to you.

FRANK SMITH,
Commander, William F. Sinclair Post 250, American Legion,
City of Boston and Suffolk County Employees.

Boston, June 22, 1944.

WILLIAM RANDOLPH HEARST
McCloud, California.

The tireless support, given the American Legion GI bill by your newspapers is not only now greatly appreciated, but in years to follow, veterans of this war will realize the utmost benefits therefrom. Public opinion behind this legislation was moulded by the tremendous and effective publicity provided by your publications.

CHARLES L. PARKHURST,
State Commander, Department of Vermont, American Legion.

Boston, June 14, 1944.

W. R. HEARST,
McCloud, Calif.

The Pine Tree State salutes you. Again, you and your newspapers have won a great American victory. The vigorous campaign for American war veterans conducted by your patriotic publications deserves the universal approval and thanks not only of war veterans but of the entire American public. Benefits of the bill are enduring. The appreciation of all should be known.

ANTONIO VOYER,
State Commander, American Legion,
Department of Maine.

BALTIMORE, Md., June 20, 1944.

WILLIAM RANDOLPH HEARST,
Wynnton, Calif.

Passage of the GI Bill of Rights pledging necessary benefits to all veterans of the second World War and providing rehabilitation programs to assure them a proper place in the economy of the country is a source of satisfaction to every patriotic American. Your untiring efforts on behalf of veterans helped greatly to insure passage. I congratulate you heartily upon your part in this great accomplishment.

HERBERT R. O'CONNOR, Governor of Maryland.

Boston, June 21, 1944.

MR. WILLIAM RANDOLPH HEARST,
McCloud, Calif.

Once more William Randolph Hearst and the Hearst newspapers have proved themselves the true friends of the war veterans have. Our gratitude also goes to the Representatives and Senators at Washington, and also to the President, whose signature has made the GI Bill of Rights a law.

FRANK O. CHAMPLIN,
State Commander, Veterans of Foreign Wars,
Department of New York.

Boston, June 20, 1944.

This bill gives hope of security to the men out there fighting. It provides many benefits, including hospitalization, review of discharge, education, loans, job opportunity and unemployment compensation. In other words, the veterans of this war will not have to sell apples. The Catholic War Veterans are proud of the part they had with the American Legion in helping to get this bill passed. We also join in appreciation to the Hearst newspapers for their splendid cooperation and powerful assistance.

WASHINGTON, June 23—Mrs. Clare Boothe Luce was having luncheon in the House restaurant yesterday with the Rev. Joseph F. Thorne, professor of sociology and social history at Mount St. Mary's College, Emmitsburg, Md., but she was not in what could be called a calm, spiritual, state.

In fact, the condition of the Congresswoman from Connecticut was one of definitely worldly indignation. Her rancor was of the earth earthy.

Mrs. Luce had just begun to unburden her troubles to Father Thorne when I joined them. She was good enough to give me a quick pick-up, or synopsis.

It seems that a story had just come out of Chicago to the effect that she had been cutting up nasty about her radio spot at the Republican National Convention.

The burden of the article was that she had been scheduled to go on the air late at night after former President Herbert Hoover, but that she had balked, saying she would speak before Mr. Hoover or not at all.

Mrs. Luce said she had been approached by members of the press here for a statement, but that she was so mad she had refused to give one.

"However," she said, "I don't mind telling you that that story was a deliberate misrepresentation. The facts are these:

"I was scheduled to make a 30-minute talk. But when I learned how late it would be when I went on I said that I thought it would be foolish for anyone to follow Mr. Hoover at that hour with a long speech."

"I suggested I go on first and talk only 10 minutes. I was told that would not fit into the program. So I said I would go on after Mr. Hoover, but that I would talk only 10 minutes.

"I do not claim to be a great statesman," continued Mrs. Luce, "but goodness knows I have produced enough shows and I know something about dramatic values. A long speech, by anybody, after Mr. Hoover had talked his scheduled 45 minutes, would lose its entire effect."

Father Thorne, who is author of the work, A Primer of Social Justice, nodded vehemently.

"You are absolutely right," he said. "I am definitely against long speeches, particularly when the audience is tired."

"In fact, I have preached this in my work. I have always said that no souls are saved after the first 20 minutes!"

FATHER THORNE said his visit to the Capitol had no political or social significance.

"I am just a tourist," he said. "I wanted to have a look at Congress and some of its members."

"But I am serious about that time limit on the saving of souls. People tire of listening to even the best advice after 20 minutes!"

During our discussion, I offered Father Thorne a cigarette, but he declined.

"I smoke exactly once a year," he said. "I do it then to maintain my franchise as a liberal."

MRS. ALICE ROOSEVELT LONGWORTH does one of the funniest imitations of Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt, but don't say I told you, because I don't want to cause any trouble among relatives.

THE WAR DEPARTMENT, which has issued pamphlets telling American soldiers how to act—and not to act—in various parts of the world, has released another of these instructive volumes, this time entitled "Pocket Guide to France."

Among other bits of advice, the tome states: "France has been represented too often in fiction as a frivolous nation where silly winks and coy pats are the accepted form of address. You'd better get rid of such notions now if you are going to keep out of trouble."

Our boys can get rid of such notions if they want to. Personally, I'm too set in my habits.

I RAN into Miss Joanne Tucker the other day with her father, Ray, the eminent journalist.

"Did you hear about my dopey brother?" said Miss Tucker. "He is T-Sgt. Donn Tucker and he is now home on leave."

"He took part in 53 bombing missions as a radio gunner on a B-26 Marauder. And he never got a scratch."

"So he comes back home and then goes to Barksdale Field, Louisiana, to give instruction. And he calmly walks in front of a Jeep!"

"He was knocked 10 feet. He is all right again now—but he wants to go back to the war where he says it is safe for pedestrians."

REP. FRANCES P. BOLTON of Ohio avers this is true:

She has a vacation home in a southern state (name omitted) and went down there recently to rest. She tried to locate her old cook, but was informed the servitor had lost social standing by chopping off her husband's head.

"I asked what had been done to her," said Mrs. Bolton, "and I was told 'nothing.' When I expressed surprise my informant said:

"'Court wasn't in session at the time and they just let her go. Besides, she had ample provocation.'" fathers, husbands, or sweethearts do. However, it is not claimed the number of female voters who make up their own minds is rapidly increasing.

QUERIES FROM CLIENTS: Q—Perhaps the dog is the most lovable and affectionate, but certainly you will admit the cat is more intelligent of these two animals. A—Mister, you are somewhat off the beam. Extensive tests as to animal intelligence have revealed that the dog is fifth on the list. The cat sixth. The horse is tenth. Q—You once stated there was a hotel still operating on the same site and under the same name that was mentioned by Harriet Beecher Stowe in Uncle Tom's Cabin. We have been arguing about it down here in New Guinea, where we have no copy of Uncle Tom. What hotel is it? A—The St. Charles in New Orleans.

ALMOST CONFIDENTIAL: A young old-timer is a fellow who recalls Stella Mayhew singing "Alexander, Don't You Love Your Baby No More?"... Experts on the subject seem agreed Paulette Goddard has the best figure in Hollywood. Paulette is also one of the most graceful walkers of the female Hollywoodians, although now and then she struts a little. In being a street car conductor, a good start on the road to outstanding success? It wouldn't seem so, yet George Rector, founder of the world famous Rector's Restaurant, was once a street car conductor on the Second ave. line in New York city. George Conway, trainer of War Admiral and many other well-known thoroughbreds, was for a period a street car conductor in Jersey City, N. J. Gus Van and Joe Schenck, who made up one of the greatest vaudeville acts of all time, met when Gus was a motorman and Joe a conductor on a Brooklyn trolley line. Henry Lehrman, film comedy genius, who owned the first Rolls-Royce automobile in California, was once a conductor on a New York line.

VOTERS: According to the most recent report, there are in the United States 88,666,535 potential voters. There are over half a million more potential women voters than men. Exact figures are women voters: 44,622,886, men voters: 44,043,669. O. the men voters about 7,860,000 are in the armed forces. Seems certain women will cast the most votes in the coming Presidential election. Investigation has revealed the great majority of women vote as their

HOLLYWOOD, June 23—John Hodiak, who may or may not be the man in Lana Turner's life (Peter Lawford is also getting votes), will concentrate his professional attention for the next few weeks making screen love to Anne Baxter in "Sunday Dinner for a Soldier."

This means that once again "Hi" Hodiak, the hottest hit since Alan Ladd, is being borrowed by 20th Century-Fox. Remember he made his initial hit on this lot with Tallulah Bankhead in "Lifeboat"?

Meanwhile, William Eythe, previously slated for "Sunday Dinner," has been switched to the male role opposite Bankhead in "Czarina," the Ernst Lubitsch production. Getting back to the incendiary Mr. Hodiak, when he finishes at 20th he reports back to his home studio, M-G-M, to play opposite Greer Garson in "Valley of Decision." Busy—isn't he?

ANN DVORAK'S first Hollywood movie in three and a half years is opposite John Wayne in "Flame of the Barbary Coast" at Republic. This marks the start of a long-term contract for Ann, who was going great guns as a dramatic actress several years ago before she gave it all up to follow Leslie Fenton to London. Speaking of John Wayne—reports come from all sides that he has the "Will Rogers" role tied up and makes his big tests this week. He looks about as much like Will Rogers as I do, but he certainly has the western, gum-chewing background for it.

GARRY MOORE, who has the distinction of being the only comedian ever signed by David Selznick, won't make his first movie for his boss. He's been loaned to Edward Small for the top comedy spot in "Brewster's Millions," perennial that has been made and remade so often it's like death and taxes—with us to stay. I understand Moore is a smoothie comedian along the Bob Hope lines. Before he came to Hollywood he used to write as well as co-star with Jimmy Durante on the Durante air show.

SIDE-LINES: John Garfield plays himself in "Hollywood Canteen," but his real self is so unlike his movie self that Warner want him to remake his scenes so he'll be less like himself and more like his screen self. . . . Connie Moore returns to work Monday, but the doctor says no dancing scenes yet in "Atlantic City." . . . Frank Gruber, who is scripting "Who Could Ask for Anything More," for Harriet Parsons, has sold an original to RKO, titled, "For Some It Rains." It's a political comedy whispered for Jean Arthur. . . . Martha Tilton (there's a lamb and what a singer!) goes overseas with the Jack Benny troupe. . . . Maj. Edward Fleming, who backed the revival of "Personal Appearance" with Gladys George, may take the hit back into New York again—with Gladys, of course. . . . Eleanor Parker is not only lucky in getting Bette Davis' role in "Of Human Bondage" but she's even luckier rating Eddie Golding to direct her. Is there a better director for women?

AMOND L. O. P.'S NOTES (I love to read other people's mail) was a memo of a call she had re-

ON THE SIDELINES: Don't you love the title of Preston Sturges' autobiography, "The Events Leading Up to My Death"? . . . HOLLYWOOD IN SHORTS: Now that the Ava Gardner-Howard Hughes romancing is cold he's been seeing Gloria de Haven; Steve Crane surprising the natives by lunching with his ex-wife, Carol Crane; the Whitney Bolton twins are expected July 10; Patsy England, the debutante who was Charlie Chaplin, Jr.'s, heart before he went in the Army, took a movie test at 20th today; Joan Crawford's hair, which has been flaming, has been subdued to its natural tones for "Mildred Pierce"; Virginia Gilmore very, very ill with the flu; it's still on with Errol Flynn and Nora Edington; Susan Peters' doctor says she's well enough to report to M-G-M around the middle of July; Bunny Waters being a glamorous chauffeur for Johnny Greene since he broke his leg; Mae Crane, looking so pretty at the Hollywood Derby, deserves a really good break in a movie.

LT. A. C. LYLES, back from Texas, with his favorite girl, Jane Withers, on his arm; Paul Brooks, who looks more like Errol Flynn than Flynn, has it bad for Jeanne Crane; the rumor is hot that Lee White (of the Wilde twins) is secretly married to a hero in the service; Veronica Lake and Andre de Toth two nights running at the Little Gypsy, where it is sooooo romantic—soft lights, violins and all the trimmings; Lois Collier's engagement to Bob Oakley is colder than the California climate; Betty Delman, the Arthur Murray dancer, has a letter from Bruce Cabot saying he'll have a Hollywood leave soon; Lt. Jon Whitcomb, formerly married to Mary Brian, passed through town on his way to the South Pacific to paint war scenes for the government.

Local Lad in D-Day Wounded

William Randolph Hearst, Junior, who flew with the Ninth Air Force command evacuating wounded from France, yesterday in the second of his series of three articles, told how tenderly our wounded heroes are transported by plane to hospitals in England.

By WILLIAM RANDOLPH HEARST, JUNIOR

Publisher, New York Journal-American

LONDON, June 22—We were in France for about an hour, yet I did not see a single Frenchman. I heard the rumble of guns in the distance but this entire beach was so securely in our hands that life went on around there as if operations were just some maneuver on friendly territory.

During the first few days, I had been told by an anti-aircraft gun crew, the Jerries had come over at night. They made things a bit busy but lately they had even stopped doing that.

They were all much more interested in hearing about the pilotless plane which the Germans had sprung on Southern England the night before.

I had brought over the "Stars and Stripes" and one of the London newspapers so I let them keep them.

They did not like the idea of it at all and unanimously stated they felt safer where they were than in England with those things buzzing around.

The funny part is that they meant it.

We landed in a field in England adjoining which was an emergency hospital.

While they were being unloaded, I talked to a couple of the injured boys.

RAMSEY OF AMERICAN

One, Cpl. George A. Ramsey, strange to relate, had worked on our Boston Record-American in the composing room before the war.

He had gone over on D-Day, plus four and had been shot the next day by a German machine gun which his platoon had passed without noticing. He only suffered flesh wounds and was in excellent spirits.

He introduced me to his buddy across the aisle, Cpl. William E. Neal, from Fresno, Cal. His wounds, too, were only minor, but Ramsey impressed upon me the fact that Neal had gone in on D-Day.

How gently and carefully the boys are treated.

As soon as they are carried out of the plane, their stretchers are laid on one of three benches and the doctor of the Medical Corps inspects them on the spot.

He reads the record on the cards around their necks and determines whether or not they should be taken away to a permanent hospital building, some miles down the road, or given immediate treatment there.

QUICK BLOOD TRANSFUSION

(I was standing by Maj. James

E. Pitman, of Houston, Tex., when the serious case I referred to was placed on his bench. He took one look at the boy's history, felt his pulse and ordered him to a nearby tent for an immediate blood transfusion.

When the boy stirred, Pitman, who had been watching him like an anxious mother, turned to me in a relieved way and his exact words were:

"This blood plasma is marvelous stuff—it has saved a countless number of lives."

I really think these words coming from him made a more profound impression on me than did my recollection of having been in France two hours before.

I hope they make an equal impression upon the folks at home and influence them to give of their blood to save the lives of their boys over here.

Cpl. George A. Ramsey, mentioned in today's article by William Randolph Hearst, Junior, is an employee-on-leave of the Boston Record-American and a resident of East Boston. He is a son of Mr. and Mrs. David A. Ramsey of 837 Saratoga st.

A graduate of East Boston High School, where he was president of his class, Ramsey joined the composing room staff of the American soon after graduation.

He is one of four brothers, including Albert E. Ramsey, a Boston-Record-American employee. His father also is a veteran Boston newspaperman.

hood. Later he attended St. Mary's Seminary in Baltimore, and his brilliant record there won him a scholarship at the North American College in Rome, where he was ordained in April, 1909.

His college instructors wished him to remain as faculty member, but on the insistence of Bishop Farrelly of the Cleveland diocese he returned there and for the next 13 years, held various posts in the parochial school system.

He served as professor of theology at St. Mary's Seminary in Cleveland until 1916 when he organized the Cathedral Latin School and served as its first headmaster.

He served in this capacity until 1922 when he became pastor of St. Patrick's Church in Youngstown, the only pastorate of his career. One year later he was called to Rome as spiritual director of the American College.

Immediately following his consecration as titular archbishop at Irenopolis, he was sent to India as apostolic delegate. In 1931 he went to Japan in the same capacity. During those years he visited every Catholic mission in India and the Japanese empire.

SERVED IN ROCHESTER

He was returning to Japan from the United States when he was notified of his appointment as fourth bishop of Rochester, N. Y.

He was installed Oct. 12, 1933, by Patrick Cardinal Hayes in St. Patrick's Cathedral, Rochester.

His appointment as first archbishop of Detroit was announced by Pope Pius XI on the late prelate's 80th birthday.

Archbishop Mooney is a tall and slender man of distinguished appearance. His voice is pleasing and cultured, his personality friendly, and his humor quick and ready, though he is known as a strict disciplinarian.

He is extremely studious and owns a large and well-selected library.

He is a man of his word, as is indicated in a story of the days when he was pastor of St. Patrick's Church in Youngstown back in 1930.

Negotiations were under way for the formation of a new parish and Mrs. Sara Carley McCarthy, reporter for the Youngstown Telegram, asked him for the story. Admitting the negotiations, he told her it was too early for a story at that time, but gave her his word that she would get the story as soon as it was ready.

The negotiations were completed one winter day at a point outside Youngstown. There was deep snow on the ground. Rev. Dr. Mooney and his party had started back to town when he remembered his promise to Mrs. McCarthy. He stopped his car, waded through deep snow to a farmhouse and telephoned the story to her.

Altar boys who served him at Rochester recall that he is a thoughtful man. Each year he saw to it that these faithful little fellows who assisted him at the altar were present at the opening baseball game of the season.

In a Christmas midnight mass sermon at the Cathedral in Detroit, Archbishop Mooney said:

"We can look across the sea to-night and see how hatred has grown. Can we not see that it has grown in our own country and in our own lives?"

"One thing that Christ will not tolerate is hate. Some say the only way to conquer hate is with counter-hate, but that was not Christ's way. He knew that evil would not conquer evil."

DeGaulle Bows, But Day-to-Day

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, June 23 (AP)—Gen. Charles De Gaulle, reversing his previous stand, has agreed to allow French representatives to serve as liaison officers and governors of freed sections of France, under control of supreme headquarters.

A reliable source said today the arrangement was made without any formal agreement, or even a meeting between Gen. Eisenhower and De Gaulle, and is on a day-to-day basis.

Paper Collection Set Tomorrow

Hopeful of reclaiming every bit of waste paper possible because of desperate need for it in the war, every ward and street in Boston will be canvassed by city trucks tomorrow in a special mop-up collection.

Salvage Director George G. Hyland appealed to all residents who did not put out paper earlier in the week to place it on sidewalks by 10 a. m. tomorrow.

"Military demands for supplies which are made from waste paper are tremendous," Hyland said. That is why we are planning this big Saturday drive to go over every part of Boston for the second time."

He also appealed to persons planning to leave on summer vacations within the next few weeks to clear out their cellars, attics, garages and storerooms of paper and get it in this month's collection.

Collections so far this week in the first 13 wards were tallied today at 875,795 pounds of paper and 298,200 pounds of tin as compared to last month's returns of 963,770 pounds of paper and 272,000 pounds of scrap tin.

War bond winners in Wards 11 to 14 were Helen F. Moulton of Brookside ave., Jamaica Plain; Mrs. S. Levine of Crawford st., Roxbury; David Ryan of Raven st., Dorchester, and Jason L. Weinberg of Bicknell st., Dorchester.

Julia Lyman Simonds Weds Tomorrow

SO THE TWO SERVICE SONS OF Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Blackman can see their Mom leading a big parade Mr. Blackman took lots of moving pictures yesterday as his pretty wife took part in the Volunteer Day celebration at Mass. General Hospital.

She was a committee member for the picnic and review on the sunny lawn of Bulfinch bldg. Gov. Saltonstall and Dr. Nathaniel Faxon reviewed the parade of all volunteers and about a thousand of the hospital's regular personnel.

Glimpsed in the throng—Mrs. Nathaniel Faxon, the Henry McB. Parkers, who are opening their place in Maine next week; and Dr. J. Dellinger Barney, inching closer and closer to the big military band to watch the players giving out with stirring airs; Francis Hart directing the parade with the assistance of his pretty actress wife, Muriel Williams Hart, in a tomato gabardine suit and bright green unrationed flat shoes; Mrs. Hamilton Osgood standing tiptoe on a chair to watch the proceedings.

One of the interesting groups in the parade were the wives of doctors overseas, including Mrs. Thomas Goethals, Mrs. Edwin Cave, Mrs. Thomas Lannan, Mrs. Henry Faxon, Mrs. Edward Churchill, Mrs. Richard Thompson, Mrs. George Marks and many more.

JULIA LYMAN SIMONDS and Edward L. Bigelow, Jr., one of society's most popular young couples, have a date tomorrow at the altar of the Church of the Redeemer, Chestnut Hill. It will Ned is the son of Lt. Col. Edward L. Bigelow and the late Mrs. Rose Lee Fessenden Bigelow. He and his bride will live in Brookline.

BRETTED IN THE BARN OF LOUIS B. COX, A HOOD PRODUCER FOR OVER 10 YEARS

A model of New England housekeeping

We wish all our friends could visit Mr. Cox's barn at milking time. First off they'd notice how bright and clean everything was—the white-washed walls, the freshly-scrubbed cement floors, and the sleek, healthy cows themselves. Then they'd watch the shiny, sterilized, automatic milking machine in operation and the cows being fed their carefully-balanced portions of grain and hay. Next, Mr. Cox would show them the modern equipment he uses in the barn and milkhouse, where the milk is kept at a constant temperature of 45° or lower.

When you left this farm, you'd know why your Hood's Milk tastes so good and how its purity and quality are scientifically protected on the farm.

Gardens Need Cultivation Now

By FOSTER H. WEISS

Victory gardeners must realize that unless they cultivate as soon as possible after rain, the weed problem can reach serious proportions.

While dry weather discourages weed growth, a spell of the wet and cloudy weather such as we have just experienced has exactly the opposite effect. Do not work heavy land when wet. As soils vary considerably in texture, I feel that some gardeners should be careful about the time that they work the land. Sandy soils can be worked within a few hours after a rain while heavy clay soils may take several days to dry out. Do not make the mistake of working the clay soils too soon. On the other hand these soils will crust over and the crust must be broken to prevent loss of moisture.

If you have harvested all of your early peas, lettuce and spinach you should plant to get your first and easiest crops started. To have a steady supply of vegetables all summer, the V gardeners cannot afford to let the land lie idle, and I know of no better way to control weeds than to have a crop growing on the land.

Prepare soil carefully for succeeding crops if you want good results. On light soils it will not be necessary to dig it again until you want to work in more manure. It will be necessary to add a little more fertilizer for some crops such as cabbage, beets and carrots, but beans will do well without extra plant food. Extra fertilizer may cause too much vine growth.

N. E. Workers to Get Million in Back Pay

A total of 40,333 New England workers must be paid $1,148,559 due in back wages under the wage order fixing minimum pay at 40 cents an hour. On a nation-wide basis, more than $17,000,000 is to go to 2,000,000 of America's workers.

Those who are to benefit, according to Leo A. Gleson, local director of the wage and hour division, U. S. Department of Labor, are so-called white collar workers in finance, insurance, real estate, communication and miscellaneous industries.

ANY FACE CAN BE IDEALIZED with a new shade rose-golden make-up base and face powder . . . to give the complexion a radiant and softly rosy hue . . . to freshen and delight these warm days . . . and without fear of muddy streaks to mar the make-up no matter how long the hours. Blue Network Actress Mary Shipp has that bright facial glow.

By RUTH MUGGLEBEE
YOU HAVE JUST had a long distance call . . . a wire . . . a fat letter . . . from the One and Only! Now, quickly . . . if there's a mirror handy . . . take a look at yourself! See . . . how radiant and softly rosy your face is! What a sparkle your eyes have . . . You'd think . . . to look at you . . . you were at your first dance again.

Well . . . why not STAY that way? Why not color-light your face? You can with a new rose rachel shade of powder . . . and a tan make-up base . . . used together in perfect harmony and symphony. The base spread very sparingly with lotion or water-moistened fingers . . . the powder fluffed on generously and smoothed down lightly with a brush or a piece of cotton . . . and your face is something to be proud of.

Look at yourself again. See . . . you have the same happy blush and eye-brightening radiance that wonderful message gave you . . . only, here they are . . . for keeps. And, it is because these two cosmetics are blended right in and through rose rachel . . . to color-light your face and keep it that lovely for hours on end.

NEVER LETS YOU DOWN

If you're a vibrant brunette or a year 'round suntanned blonde . . . this new shade base and face powder is your dish at any time. Or, if you always change for summer to an outdoor, bright-alive make-up . . . which you certainly should if you know what's good for your look of femininity . . . this combination has been so compounded to keep their fresh color . . . and, never, never let you down . . . no matter how long you have them on.

Let the sun shine its brightest . . . there will be no muddy streaks on your face . . . no powder caking . . . just an exquisite facial softness that is lovely. Be sure to cover your throat, too, with this delectable double-treat.

DEEP GLOWING MAKE-UP

There's no sense rationing your prettiness. Which reminds us that the men who photograph all the models and movie stars insist they use a deep glowing make-up from hairline to dress neckline for photogenic perfection. And, too, older women . . . who possibly from over-conservatism cling to the once fashionable pale powders . . . should rely on a warmer, rosier powder shade for a more youthful look . . . a fresher look.

For the name of this new shade base and powder, phone the Beauty Dept., Liberty 4000, or write me, care of the Boston Evening American, inclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Good Blood Donor Meals My Day

By MARTHA LEE

D-DAY SENT THE WAR BOND SALES soaring sky high. D-Day put more people in the Red Cross Blood Donor lines than ever appeared in one day before.

D-Day showed that Americans are going to back the attack—there need be no doubt about that. Now if you haven't already contributed to the Fifth War Loan and the Blood Bank, do it now. It won't take long. Five minutes is ample to sign a good application and to call Kenmore 9069 for a Red Cross appointment.

Of course, after you've given your pint, you'll want to keep up your pep, want to keep going at the same old gut. So your cue is to know the foods that are the "quickest" blood builders—the most efficient ones for bracing the blood stream quickly back to normal. Iron-rich and protein-rich foods are the keynotes blood-building foods. You should also drink extra liquids to make up the fluids lost.

The two foods richest in the iron that the body absorbs and uses are liver and molasses. Then come oatmeal, dried apricots, eggs, whole wheat, raisins, parsley and lean beef. The richest sources of high quality protein are meat, milk, fish, eggs, cheese, peanuts, dried peas and beans.

The menus below will give you an idea of good blood donor meals:

WEDDING REHEARSAL—

The bride observes but does not take part in her wedding rehearsal.

If she wants to rehearse any one part, she does so privately. Usually, however, it is sufficient for her to watch her "substitute" during the rehearsal.

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Thursday—On Wednesday morning I worked for a little while in preparation for a program on the war bond drive in which I will take part next week if all goes well. Then I visited the Red Cross prisoners of war packaging center in New York city by invitation of Mrs. T. H. Roulston, captain of the chapter. The wives and relatives of prisoners of war work here very faithfully, and through their efforts many things go overseas to our men, who would otherwise suffer even more than they do.

AT 5 O'CLOCK Mrs. Henry Morgenstern, Jr., Mrs. Gladys Tillet, Mrs. Trude Pratt; Miss Josephine Schain, Miss Betty Goodwin and I took the train for Syracuse, where Miss Doris Byrne, vice-chairman of the Democratic State Committee, invited us to attend a meeting of the Democratic women of New York state today.

I HAVE before me a letter from Mr. James Gerard, president of the Servicemen's Breakfast Club of San Bernardino, Cal. He enclosed a story from the newspapers, but sadly says that they need a little more publicity to get people to make regular contributions so that the club may continue bringing in servicemen and giving them a really good Sunday morning breakfast.

The whole idea seems to me a very praiseworthy Sunday morning occupation, and I am sure that more men go out to church after having been fed than would otherwise have done so. This seems to be a purely local idea, but I wish wherever there are a good many camps in the neighborhood similar things could be done by the people of a nearby town. I am sure they would be much appreciated.

Style Idea from So. Pacific

By BETTINA BEDWELL

SWIM SUITS that are influenced by the attire of girls in the South Pacific islands are a natural result of our front page interest in this area. These come in materials with brilliant tropical patterns, and they come with the sarong and the pareau effect very much in evidence.

Miss Dulin has sketched one of these suits, designed by Tina Leser, and made of du Pont spun rayon and cotton, a linen weave patterned with brilliant melon pink flowers. The draped bras has what they call a necklace hold-up effect, which ties at the back of the neck and is a band of pink material. The very short draped skirt is a wrap-around, goes over fitted trunks.

Broadway

NEW YORK, June 23—Claude is one of the nation's idols. He's a top ranking star of the screen, the radio and the nighties. His income, even after he splits with that powerful partner, Uncle Sam—is something much more than comfortable.

As a person, he's pretty rare, too, for there probably isn't a nicer, more generous, more considerate individual in the Broadway zone this minute. So, needless to say, he is pursued assiduously by the girls, although he isn't exactly a glamorous boy in the profile department.

If the girls only knew it, they're wasting their time when they maneuver to land Claude. And the columnists who keep up with Claude's romances, and predict that he'll marry this beauty or that, are wasting their space, because Claude isn't going to marry any one, and you can bet on it.

WHY? Well, it's not such a long story. Read on. 'Claude's wife died several years ago. She was an invalid for a long time before her death, and although Claude provided her with every luxury, there was nothing much that the world could give to make her happy, and the one thing she treasured, Claude's companionship, was something she didn't get very often.

He was so busy working for the things to make her as comfortable as her illness would permit. He was so busy making pictures, so often away during night club engagements, so often tied up in radio rehearsals. Some people forgot that he had a wife. Sometimes, perhaps, so did he.

It wasn't until after she died that Claude realized how much she meant to him. He made a vow that what she did not have in life she would have in death—his complete devotion. He told his vow to only two men—his closest friends—and asked them to help him keep it. And they did, as this incident illustrates.

LAST WINTER a lovely New York show girl caught Claude's fancy. He saw more and more of her and before long he realized he was becoming genuinely fond of her. So he sent a hurried SOS to his two pals, who were in California, and they rushed to New York.

In two weeks they had broken up the romance—nicely with no hard feelings, but completely—and had rushed Claude out of town. He paused en route to the train just for one thing—to visit his wife's grave with an armload of flowers, and to visit a neighborhood church to pray for her.

But you can't print that. It's Claude's secret, and only his two buddies know about it—the buddies and Claude likes to think, the woman who lies in a grave not far from Broadway.

DO YOU KNOW it's actually true that Gertrude Niesen almost missed the performance of "Follow the Girls" the night it moved to the 44th St. Theater, because she clean forgot, and spent half an hour banging on the locked stage door at the Century, wondering where everybody was? . . . Is it true that NBC is going to attempt a "swoon" buildup for Rudy Vallee when he resumes—and are they jeting? . . . Isn't the Talulah Bankhead-John Hoysrdradt "Private Lives" shindig up at Stamford an hilarious affair? . . . Hasn't Meyer Davis purchased Joe Schenck's San Fernando Valley house? . . . Have you seen that tall girl wearing a head-dress like a Tibetan temple at El Morocco—and isn't she Marian Saunders, an Arizona heiress? . . . Have Gladys Swarthout and her sponsor called the whole thing off? . . . Do you know that as soon as the yelling dies down, a new lobby will try to push the 20 per cent night club tax down to 15 per cent?

HOLLYWOOD, June 23—Garbo has bought a house. Gee Gee is now on Beverly Drive in Beverly Hills, if you want to go walking with her. Ernst Lubitsch has turned composer and has written a waltz which will be sung by Irene Dunne in his picture, "Lady in Ermine."

Bonita Granville and Bob Lowery are a romance. . . Alan Ladd and Veronica Lake will be the combination in the Billy Wilder-Charlie Brackett movie version of "The Lost Weekend" . . . D. W. Griffith has taken an option on Herb Sterne's story dealing with Lizzie Borden, and tends to make it as a picture. Griffith is being sponsored by Preston Sturges and Howard Hughes. . . Elia Kazan's next directorial effort will be the best seller, "A Bell for Adano."

CLARK GABLE has completed his war film, "Combat America," and those who have seen it say that it is as good as "Memphis Belle." It has a foreword by Gen. Arnold, the commentary was written by John Lee Mahin and is spoken by Gable. Gable appears in the picture but has tactfully refrained from showing scenes of himself in the bombers. . . Margaret Savage and Rags Ragland are voicing. . . Capt. Burgess Meredith is waiting his shipping orders.

JOAN CRAWFORD has rejected Eddie Small's offer to be in "Bella Donna." She doesn't want to play a "bad woman" . . . Irene Bordoni is being considered for a part in the movie, "Billy Rose's Diamond Horseshoe" . . . Paramount is planning a Technicolor version of that modern morality play, "Everywoman," with most of the names at the studio participating. Claudette Colbert is wanted to play the role of Everywoman. . . Diana Lynn and Maj. Robert Livingston are a romance. . . Judith Evelyn of "Angel Street" is now in town and is being screen tested by several studios. . . Lon McCallister, who debut as a shy kiss-less private in "Stage Door Canteen," has been assigned to play a wolf in "Winged Victory" . . . Steve Crane of "Tonight and Every Night" and Pat Hogan, a show girl, are a twosome.

GYPSY ROSE LEE'S next for William Goetz will be a murder musical authored by the erstwhile stripteaseuse. . . Lou Holtz has just terminated his contract with Metro without doing a single thing while at the studio. When he agreed to go into Paul Small's new show, "Starline," Holtz said: "After not working all these months, I'm looking forward to candle-villie reviving me" . . . Edgar Bergen and Aquanetta have been a combination at The Players.

Boston After Dark

ALTHOUGH REPORTS FROM THE BROADWAY front have it that the new Mae West play, "Catherine Was Great," got a Philadelphia booking instead of a Boston pre-New York debut on account of Producer Michael Todd's dread of adverse action on the part of the Boston censor, there is testimony by Mr. Todd to the contrary. . . Miss West's play, according to the producer, is eminently clean throughout. . . The Philadelphia tryout came about because of Mike's decision to use the Forrest Theater and its "scooper" air-conditioning system.

AS A MATTER OF FACT, the Philadelphia censors are fully as meticulous as City Censor John J. Spencer in protecting theater-goers from possible contamination morally as a result of theatrical suggestiveness. . . And they always have been. . . It was in Philadelphia that the late Sam H. Harris refused a bet from Boo-hoo Hoff, then an illustrious purveyor of liquor "just off the boat" (the Mr. Harris) and the authors of "Rain" as well probably as the actors, would all land in the calaboose. . . Sam H., who produced "Rain" wasn't so sure himself. . . As it was, "Rain" was the sensation of three seasons in New York, and had no trouble at all in the Big City. . . the great plays revivals in the past decade have been accepted with the reverence due a fine period piece—a play which dated, and by today's standards, quite mild.

ONCE OVER LIGHTLY: July 1 closings are becoming more frequent along the Rialto. . . The Cave will remain open and its cooling system is marvelous. . . But the adjoining Vienna Room, also under the management of the Schinder boys, is going to fold for a few summer weeks. . . The Renaissance Room of the Touraine is another scheduled July 1 closing. . . Singing-la will brave the heat, and Tom Maren is placing the accent on food. . . In this same space one day last fall, your correspondent chose to rave about a novel called "Tucker's People," which told of the number-pool racket in New York. . . A very knowing piece of writing, it projected its author, Ira Wolfert, into prominence as a writer (and possibly a great one). . . Because of the deluge of war novels of the past season, "Tucker's People" was widely overlooked.

THE ONCOMING theatrical season may atone for that. . .

For Jed Harris, the most literate and talented of the stage producers (in this opinion) has bought the rights to the book and has assigned Elmer Rice to write a dramatization. . . Although this corner might be tempted to quibble with the choice of Mr. Rice (an aloof, politically-conscious writer of admitted Left-ish leanings) as the dramatist of so forthright and American-first a subject as the number-pool racket, the fact remains that Jed Harris has chosen to have the book dramatized, and no writer can go very wrong under Mr. Harris' direction—barring a clash of temperaments. . . We hope that Boston sees "Tucker's People" first. . . Also, we would like to see the book with a bit more popularity on the newsstands. . . It is gripping and a handsome piece of writing. . . It will be interesting also to see how the public receives "Tucker's People."

WATCH FOR A MESSIAH of relations between Fred Alcea and his manager, Walter Bachelor. . . It has been an affectionate and profitable association for more than a dozen years.

Dodgers Lose Veteran Scout

NEW YORK, June 23 (AP)—Lawrence (Larry) Sutton, 83-year-old ex-scout for the Brooklyn Dodgers and rated one of the ball's shrewdest ivory hunters, died of uremia last night at his Brooklyn home.

It was Sutton who, at a total cost of $11,000, collected the 11 players who paced the Brooklynians to the 1916 National League pennant. In that array of talent, which he picked up here and there, were such stars as Casey Stengel, Jake Daubert, George Cutshaw, Zack Wheat, Hy Myers and others who shone through the 'teens.

He also obtained Dazzy Vance for the Dodgers, for $5,000, while the price tag on the great White was only $12,000. His first baseball deal was the purchase of Nick Altrock from Oswego, N. Y., for $100—and Altrock got $45 of the purchase price.

In contrast to present day trends, Sutton often said: "In my time we wouldn't sign a man under 25. Before that age they weren't matured and filled out enough for the major leagues."

He became a scout for Brooklyn in 1909, and was still active in the late 30's. During his career he dug up umpires as well as players, sending Ernie Quigley and Bob Hart into the big time as arbiters. During the winters, Sutton worked as a newspaper proofreader. Sutton was a native of Oswego, N. Y., and never played baseball.

Connie Mack Signs Catcher Garbark

PHILADELPHIA, June 23 (AP)—Connie Mack announced yesterday that the Athletics have purchased Bob Garbark, brother of Yankee Catcher Mike Garbark, from the Buffalo club of the International League. Bob also is a catcher.

Mack also said he expected outfielder Lew Flick to rejoin the club shortly. Flick, who lives in Bristol, Tenn., had decided earlier to stay out of baseball this season.

Crowds at Eastern League Games Up

WILLIAMSPORT, Pa., June 23 (AP)—Eastern League baseball attendance during the current season is up 40 per cent over last season. Thomas H. Richardson, president of the league, announced today.

"I have just returned from a trip around the loop," Richardson said, "and am more convinced than ever that the people want baseball."

Babe Plays Patty's Conqueror

CHICAGO, June 25 (AP)—Three college lassies and 30-year-old Babe Didrikzen Zaharias entered today's semifinal round of the nation's No. 1 wartime women's golf tournament, the Western Open. The youngest of the field, 18-year-old Betty Jane Hamerle, faced the stern test of playing Babe, the Beverly Hills, Cal., all-around athlete who has been averaging nearly 250 yards with her drives.

Sturdy Miss Maernerle, a seasoned competitor despite her age, upset defending champion Patty Berg yesterday 1-up in 19 holes for one of the biggest surprises in the 15-year-old history of the tournament.

Rain Pursues Park Leaguers

It's getting so a Park League game is a rarity these days as the popular "after dinner" circuit was rained out for the third night in a row. But the weather man co-operating and willing, the loop will stage a three-game card tonight.

Last night it was Casey's turn to step into the limelight and take over first place in the league and rain ruined that. Tonight the Navy Yard A. A. has the opportunity to dissolve the first place partnership as the Dorchester Club will be idle.

The Charlestown team meets Hicks Engineering at Draper Park, West Roxbury, and it's a sure bet that Mgr. Frank Spano will use his best pitchers to beat the home club. A victory for the Navy means first place and the only possible way to take that spot is to win tonight.

In the other games Lawley's plays Watertown Arsenal at Healy Field and West Roxbury A. A. travels to Columbus Park to meet the Linehan Club.

Blonde Jeanne Cline, of Bloomington, Ill., former western junior champion, gained the semifinal for the third time in six years. She drew one of the top favorites, Dorothy Germain of Philadelphia.

Both girls are 20 years old. Long-hitting, deadly-putting Miss German shot some of the best golf of the tournament yesterday to eliminate Georgia Tainter, Fargo,

After trailing one-down on the front line, Miss Cline won four of the last seven holes in a surge which dispelled Omaha's Phyllis Otto 3 and 2.

Meanwhile, Babe, finding herself lagging for the first time, shot three birdies in a row on the back nine and clinched her match with another on the 15th to dispose of Mrs. Albert Becker of Englewood, N. J., 3 and 2.
